

Edinburgh University Students' Association's affiliations, March 2019

There is a need under the Education Act 1994 to review all ongoing affiliations each year. The details are as extracted below:

“When a student union is affiliated to any external organisation there are to be procedures for the review of affiliations under which the current list of affiliations is submitted for approval by members annually or more frequently, and at such intervals of not more than a year as the governing body may determine, a requisition may be made by such proportion of members (not exceeding 5 per cent) as the governing body may determine, that the question of continued affiliation to any particular organisation be decided upon by a secret ballot in which all members are entitled to vote.”

Our agreed process for undertaking this review is that the Student Council (as a meeting open to members) and the Trustee Board jointly review the affiliations annually. The Trustee Board has a requirement under charities law to ensure that the Students' Association is sound and viable and so it jointly approves the list of affiliations to ensure that no affiliations pose a legal or financial threat.

The Students' Association currently has policy which affiliates it to the following groups. Student Council must vote on whether to continue to affiliate to these organisations or not.

If both bodies reject an affiliation then it will cease. If only one body rejects an affiliation then the status quo will remain, however, students could call for a referendum under the normal procedures should they disagree with the outcome of the review.

The information below is provided to help Student Council make an informed decision. The detail about each organisation is taken from their websites and there is added context where applicable.

“The National Union of Students (NUS) is a voluntary membership organisation which makes a real difference to the lives of students and its member students' unions. We are a confederation of 600 students' unions amounting to more than 95 percent of all higher and further education unions in the UK. Through our member students' unions, we represent the interests of more than seven million students. NUS champions students to shape the future of education – and create a better world. We promote, defend and extend student rights. We fight discrimination, isolation and injustice. Through practical information and national action, we make sure students can thrive. We support and strengthen students and their unions. We are informed – developing research that influences national policy. We are active – taking on all the issues that affect students' lives now and in future. We know students.”

“NUS works to champion the commercial success of Students Unions by negotiating purchasing deals with suppliers, and a host of additional benefits for its members. Our ethical and environmental work delivers a greener supply chain, greener unions through new environmental projects, and best practice schemes such as Sound Ethical Choice and Green Impact. To support our members we operate a dedicated customer service centre that provides training and advice on matters such as alcohol policy, negotiating fairer PPL fees, and energy management. We provide bespoke market analysis and insight, and an extensive programme of membership events. Our members also benefit from a programme of constructive engagement with suppliers over ethical/environmental issues and from our central billing facility, which saves considerable administration resource within unions.”

Context: The Students' Association benefits £168,668¹ annually from affiliation with NUS. This is mainly through retail and licensed trade purchasing deals associated with NUS Services, the commercial arm of NUS. In addition to this the Students' Association benefits from resources, training events and support available for student officers, students and staff. Through its membership the Students' Association is also able to shape the policy of NUS via delegations of students to national conferences. The Students' Association sends eight delegates to NUS UK annual conference and fourteen to NUS Scotland annual conference.

“The Conflict-Free Campus Initiative (CFCI) is a joint initiative of the Enough Project and STAND – the student-led movement to end mass atrocities. By encouraging school officials and stakeholders, both of whom are large purchasers of electronics and powerful spokespersons, to commit to measures that pressure electronics companies to responsibly invest in Congo's minerals sector, students are voicing the demand for conflict-free products from Congo. The goal of this movement is to support peace, accountability, and prosperity in Congo. In order for that to happen, companies must invest responsibly in Congo's mining sector, not resort to sourcing their minerals elsewhere. With companies like Intel, Apple, Motorola, and others leading the way, we've seen a significant increase in corporate commitments to supporting the development of economic opportunity in the region. But we must continue to call for additional mining reforms and for investment in livelihood projects for Congolese mining communities who are impacted by market shifts and in-region reforms.”

“The National Campaign Against Fees & Cuts is a network of student and education worker activists, founded at a convention at University College London in February 2010. Since then, the NCAFC has helped activists on campuses up and down the country organise radical direct action against tuition fees, education cuts and wider cuts to public services. The NCAFC has played an integral role in the movement that developed from November 10th 2010 following the occupation of Millbank Tower, calling several national days of action that mobilised hundreds of thousands of students. In November 2011, we organised a national demonstration against the government’s higher education white paper, bringing 10,000 students to the streets of London.
